

Principal's Message (61st Republic day)

Dear colleague,

Today we celebrate the 61st Republic Day. On this auspicious occasion, I extend my heartiest greetings and good wishes to all of you and to the rest of our stake holders. We are immensely grateful to the founding fathers of our Republic for their foresight and wisdom in formulating an exemplary Constitution that has stood the test of time and has steered the nation in its arduous journey through the decades. Progress with social justice and harmony is the hallmark of the Constitution. It provides mechanism for peaceful resolution of differences and disputes. Our Constitution bestows avenues to every section of the society to air its views and grievances, and to work for their resolution in a democratic way. The founding fathers and our leaders in the early years of the Republic worked hard to build a strong India brick by brick. We will have to carry this task further. We gratefully remember our freedom fighters, who under the leadership of Mahatma Gandhi, taught us to work for freedom and justice. I convey my special greetings to the soldiers and members of the armed forces who guard our borders in harsh and hostile conditions. The Republic Day is an important day in the life of a nation. We have to celebrate the day with a sense of renewal in order to build a strong and united India that is inclusive and gives opportunity to every citizen to lead a life of dignity and equality. India is truly a multi-cultural society in which every individual, regardless of religion, region, language or gender, enjoys equal rights. India's democratic order has ensured that every Indian, regardless of economic status, lives a life of dignity and self-respect and is able to make his or her unique contribution to the development of the mother country and the strengthening of her values and principles.

"Dreams float on an impatient wind, A wind that wants to create a new order. An order of strength and thundering of fire."

Dear friends, let me share with you a seven-point resolve on the occasion of ensuing Republic Day 2010:

1. Wherever I am, a thought will always come to my mind -- What can I give?
2. Whatever the mission I will do, my motto will be to work with integrity and succeed with integrity.
3. I will always remember that my winged days, be not spent in vain.
4. I realize I have to set a great goal that will lead me to think high, work and realize the goal.

5. My greatest friends will be great human beings, great teachers and great books.
6. I will firmly believe that no problem can defeat me; I will become the captain of the problem, defeat the problem and succeed.
7. My National Flag flies in my heart and I will bring glory to my nation.

Courage to Give

"Courage to think different,

Courage to invent,

Courage to discover the impossible,

Courage to travel into an unexplored path,

Courage to share knowledge

Courage to remove pain

Courage to reach the unreachable

Courage to combat problems

And Succeed,

Are the unique qualities of Teachers/students.

Let us take pride in being ourselves Indian. Let our country prosper. Sure, these many are wishes of all of us Indians. Today we need a broadening of our vision about our life. Deepening of our roots in our culture, tradition and value system would arouse a sense of responsibility with ease, calmness and equanimity. Let us be caring for life. Let us be prepared for uplifting our life.

Jay Hind!
